

Everyday Objects Turned Into Playful Characters

The paintbrush looks like a cat wearing a sling.

The scissors look like two people kissing.

The hinge looks like a man wearing a coat.

The tap looks like a girl running.

The table tennis racket looks like a man playing table tennis.

The funnel looks like a man thinking about something.

The shoe brush looks like an Native American folding his arms.

The zips look like monks wearing brown clothes.

The corkscrew looks like a waiter carrying a tray.

The axe looks like a duck venting its anger.

The hanger looks like a rat wearing red sneakers.

The saw looks like a wolf longing for something to drink.

The folding rule looks like five people singing.

The fork looks like a man singing and playing the guitar.

The wrench looks like a fox hearing something suspicious.