

What would you say in these situations?

What do you say to somebody after they have thanked you?

---

What do you say to somebody when you want to return the greeting?

---

What do you say to somebody when you don't understand what they have just said?

---

What do you say to somebody when something good has happened to them?

---

What do you say to somebody when you like the idea somebody has suggested?

---

What do you say to somebody when you wish them to recover quickly?

---

What do you say to somebody when you want to express that you are impressed with something?

---

What do you say to somebody when you give them permission to do something?

---

What do you say to somebody when you want them to feel comfortable at your place?

---

What do you say to somebody when you wish them to succeed in doing something?

---

What do you say to somebody when you want to know how and why something has happened?

---

What do you say to somebody when you completely agree with them?

---

What do you say to somebody when you want to express your surprise and/or disbelief?

---

What do you say to somebody when you express that you accept something?

---

What do you say to somebody when you want to encourage them to do something?

---

What do you say to somebody when you express your sorrow and compassion after something bad has happened?

---