

Business topics

have a nice boss who's terrible at managing people	have an unfriendly boss who's great at managing people work only with women	work only with men learn something new at work all the time	just use the knowledge and skills you already have have more responsibilities and more money	have fewer responsibilities and less money work in an open space office	work in a small office without windows work in a team with people with no sense of humour	work in a team with people with no experience work with clients	do paperwork after doing overtime: getting money for the extra hours	after doing overtime: getting days off in exchange